The 1965 Warrior Staff

In Appreciation . . . . .

Who in this school does not immediately recognize the voice of Mrs. Currie? There are few who have not on some occasion received her willing help. Whether announcing an upcoming event on the school calendar or just making life easier around the office, we feel that her value to the school is not always fully appreciated. We take this opportunity to express our appreciation to Mrs. Currie.

Our Vice-Principal often has the unpleasant and rather frustrating task of maintaining discipline in our school. It is highly doubtful that anyone envies him this necessary task, although we all must envy him his striking good humor and equanimity. In view of his many services, we take this opportunity to express our appreciation to Mr. Nuttall.

In addition to her normal teaching duties, one teacher has devoted much of her time and effort to aiding this and other yearbook staffs in presenting successful publications. She has also helped to send many students from the business course on their way to successful careers. In recognition of her years of fine service and generously volunteered assistance, we take this opportunity to express our appreciation to Miss Jahnle.

Our school is not merely a faculty, some students, and a few classrooms. It is something with that unique quality which sets it apart from any other institution of its kind; it is something with a personality. What creates this personality? It is a compound of many factors; but when one examines this more closely, he sees it influenced chiefly by one man. This person fills a job which brings him constantly in contact with students, teachers, and parents alike. In his position, he has succeeded in infusing into the character of this school some measure of his own vital personality. He is not only an able administrator but also an inspiration to all who meet him. It is largely due to his efforts that we will owe the attainment of our future goals. We of the senior class extend our deepest gratitude and best wishes for the future to our Principal, Mr. Chester D. Ingraham.

Class Advisers

Best Wishes
Ann M. Spaine

No man can reveal to you aught but that which already lies half asleep in the dawning of your knowledge.

"The teacher who walks in the shadow of the temple, among his followers, gives not of his wisdom but rather of his faith and his lovingness.

"If he is indeed wise he does not bid you enter the house of his wisdom, but rather leads you to the threshold of your own mind . . ."

"For the vision of one man lends not its wings to another man.

"And even as each one of you stands alone in God's knowledge, so must each one of you be alone in his knowledge of God and in his understanding of the earth."

Graduation: a time of anticipation, a period of frustration, an era emanating an aura of happiness, an age with faint striations of sadness permeating the ever vigorous and curious mind of youth, the year of indecision beyond which lurks the ever present unknown, the culmination of struggle, joy, tears, laughter, and desire. School days rush through the stream of youth as a brook dashes from the mountains to the sea. Within this turbulence are encompassed the bubbles of emotions ever changing, constantly shifting with the pressures of goals unrealized, ambitions unfulfilled, career dreams changed, futures rearranged and psychological designs for living re-established. Yet graduation is not the alpha nor the omega of one's life nor the signal that one has been specially favored; but rather it is the "commencement" to determine the use to which each and every graduate of the Class of 1965 can utilize his or her education to foster the practical values and aesthetic ideals that embrace a complete life of contributory citizenship and remunerative accomplishment.

Chester D. Ingraham, Principal

Education, essentially indefinable, relatively immeasurable, sometimes impractical, quite imponderable, hopefully impartible, believed imperative, often impossible is of inestimable value for those young people possessed with the foresight to seek, find, and cherish it. Personal happiness, true social usefulness, and a sensitivity for the evaluation of those values which enhance our lives are precluded by the absence of it.

Education is knowledge which may sire wisdom, and wisdom is a keenly textured mind capable of communicating ideas for the improvement of world brotherhood. This educational inheritance is not a gratuity to be lightly considered, rather, it is an incandescent hope when treaties, diplomacies, politics, armies, and riots, have failed.

I, for one, am formally confident that you shall prevail.

Tales Of Our Times

I

We entered with anticipation
Filled with great determination.
Mr. Myles and Miss Splaine were chosen to guide—
To teach us to work, and how hard they tried!
Their efforts were tireless, their patience unending,
Their time and advice they were constantly lending.
Before we knew it elections were here;
Leaders were chosen for the coming year.
Billy, Donna, Steveann, and Sue
Did the job of more than a few.
We danced on TV one day in December,
Boston Ballroom is a place we'll always remember.
Our Freshman Dance was made to order,
A Spanish fiesta called "South of the Border."
Our foundation was laid for years to come.
Our Freshman Year had been step number one.

II

At Summer's end, we returned to find
Three years ahead and one behind.
Elections were first on the agenda;
The following won from the many contenders:
Billy, Peggy, Pam, and Donna
Accepted the duty as well as the honor.
In April, on a young spring night,
We held a dance called "Harbor Lights."
A lighthouse tall, a ship at sea
We oft recall in our reverie.
Toward the year's end, as you may recall,
Cheerleaders were chosen for the upcoming fall.
Two years had gone by, and all were aghast
That half of our journey had so quickly passed.
With marks closed at last, and summer ahead,
We looked with relief to long mornings in bed.

III

Upperclassmen at last and equaled by none,
Superior to all in our work and our fun.
To the polls we all went, as in all other years
And elected who, we thought, were the best of our peers.
Billy, Elaine, Jeannie, and Rick
Were surely a team which no one could lick.
Truly a symbol of our Junior Year,
Were the green and white rings which we now hold so dear.
Our Junior Prom was a date to recall,
"Moonlight and Roses" was enchantment for all.
The students awarded for their propriety
Were elected into the Honor Society.
Our Yearbook Staff was carefully selected
From Juniors of whom great things were expected.
The year's end drew close, we all were excited
Since next, as Seniors, we would be reunited.

IV

The year we'd awaited was finally here—
To be called a Senior was music to the ear.
In a year of Presidential elections,
We also made our annual selections.
Billy, Fred, Donna, and Jean
Were chosen to lead our year supreme.
Our cake sale, social, and supper were three
Of the projects which boosted our treasury.
To New York City we were bound—
On a Staten Isle Ferry to be found.
Our thoughts raced forward to the events to be;
Our prom and graduation were yet to see.
The sun will look down on a graduation scene,
To be held on a Sunday under sky serene.
Our future stretches before us far,
With high school behind us—we'll seek our star.

The art of being a non-conformist

or why many perceptive yearbook staffs prefer a very distinguished publishing house

Retaining one's individuality is not easy in these days of mass production and standardization. This is especially true of yearbook publishing, in which mass production methods have the tendency to force one to buy just what the other fellow buys.

Making of soap or soup or salad dressing by mass methods is one thing. But it is quite another to attempt to produce a creative yearbook by trying to squeeze it into some pre-conceived mold. It just can't be done that way.

The Wm. J. Keller firm brings together highly trained craftsmen, the very finest papers and ink of superlative quality. Add to these a unique service plan built around the individual school, and, finally, production by the Velvatone process, which Keller perfected especially for the printing of yearbooks, and you have a truly distinguished performance. And a yearbook with singular character and individuality . . . we call it "THE LOOK OF THE BOOK."

The yearbook you are presently leafing through is the product of the Keller custom program. If you would care to see other examples of "THE LOOK OF THE BOOK" as produced by Wm. J. Keller, get in touch with us now.

REMEMBER WHEN -

-- Mr. Sedar asked you -"Now, how does that feel?"

-- the guys bugged the girls' rooms on the National Honor Society trip to Washington, DC

-- the girls borrowed gym suits and sneakers from others and then wore sweaters to cover up the names

-- Miss Clark went on her periodic binge of "clean" gym suits

-- we taught Mr. Carlino English while he taught us Spanish

-- we worked for Miss LaMontagne in the Library

-- Chuck Lampson told us what would be good to read over for his tests for PAD

-- Senior Spaghetti supper

-- Judy Zides was Helen Keller in the Senior Class Play, "The Miracle Worker"

-- the lights went out in the rear of the train on the Senior Class Trip

-- you weren't supposed to wear green on Thursdays

-- Mr. Sedar's driver ed classes were held in the auditorium

-- Mrs. Miles made you put gum on your nose if she caught you chewing it

-- we had our Thanksgiving Day Football Game Pep Rally in the gym

-- Lester Shaughnessey would call your house to see if you were there instead of at school

-- the lavoratories were filled with students and smoke

-- the girls were sent home if their skirts were more than one inch above the knee

-- the first day we were Freshmen

-- Graduation Day

-- we got bounced from school

-- we got office detention and/or demerits

-- Chuck Lampson would get angry at a student and throw whatever he could get his hands on

-- you would wear your steady's ring on a chain or all wrapped up with tape

-- the guys wore white socks

-- the girls wore petty pants

-- we used to skate on Potter's Pond

-- Dave's was the place to go

-- mohair sweaters were in

-- we had field trips down to the sand pit with Mr. Fournier's Earth Science class

-- Graduation exercises had to be held in the gym rather than outside

REMEMBER WHEN -

-- a certain girl was "one of the guys" in Chuck's PAD class

-- we got our Class Rings

-- white polished sneakers and cinnamon nylons were the things to wear

-- the girls swapped clothes during school

-- Miss Hood

-- Charlie Ward got caught smoking at Dave's and got kicked off the basketball team

-- P.H. called a certain teacher "Tweety"

-- we had to write: I will adhere to the 3 D's of G-37: Dignity, Discipline and Decorum

-- we went to Boston Ballroom

-- we skipped classes or school

-- the guys wore straight legged pants

-- we went to Skips after dances

-- Uncle Dave

-- Chuck Lampson's candy sales

TRIBUTE TO

GERRARD A. KYRICOS

"Gerry"

Born: October 29, 1945 Killed: June 5, 2000

BMHS Class of 1965

Gerry was someone who had always been in my life because he was my older brother. He was always there. I had a permanent place for him in my heart, mind, and soul without giving it a second thought until the day he was killed by a drunk driver. Then, that place became a huge, vast, empty space, like a cave, and all the supports around it began to crumble. Our siblings are part of our world, our everyday security, whether we are close to them or not, we are still a part of the fabric of life's creation.

Losing someone to a drunk driver is a shock. It's sudden, violent, and incredibly tragic. It's a devastating experience that one cannot fathom until having it happen in their lives. Losing Gerry is a loss that far surpasses anything I've ever known. We had a very intricate, close, and special connection. I miss him and all the potential healing and growth we would have shared. I will never forget him, ever.

Gerry was in great shape, had taken good care of himself, was an avid kayaker, talented photographer and former ski instructor. His kayak was on his car when it got bulldozed over onto its roof. Strangely, his kayak flew to safety, but he did not.

Life is precious. It's a gift and when someone is negligent, such as getting in their vehicle drunk, they put everyone's life at risk. To honor Gerry, please encourage awareness in your own lives about this tragedy and how it was totally preventable. If you wish to do more, you may make a donation to honor Gerrard A. Kyricos to MADD, 1661 Worcester Road, Framingham, MA 01701. If you wish to contact me, please do.

Thank you all.
